One thousand more troops have been concentrated in the vicinity of the capital for protection against a peasant attack, and in the fear of such an occurrence the royal palace has been surrounded with artillery.

During the sitting of the chamber to-day Premier Sturdza asked parliament to assist the government in the difficult task of passing the urgent measures presented for the purpose of quelling promptly the peasant disorders. Ex-Minister of Finance Ionesco, for the conservatives, urged the house to unanimity on this pressing matter.

The chamber then witnessed a dramatic incident. M. Sturdza and M. Ionesco, who for many years past have been bitter political opponents, shook hands effusively amid great applause.

The sitting today was one of the most important ever held by the Roumanian parliament, and its close with the reconciliation of M. Sturdza and M. Ionesco is considered befitting the solemnity of the occasion.
